Dear Jorge Hernansanz Biel,

You have applied for admission to the MSc Programme in Computer Science at the University of Copenhagen starting 1 September 2020.

We regret having to inform you that your application has been rejected.

The reason for the rejection is as follows:

You do not fulfill the admission requirements of min. 10 ECTS in theoretical computer science and min. 10 ECTS within the fields programming, covering at least two substantially different programming paradigms.

The University may accept students for a Master's Programme based on a relevant Bachelor's Degree or other relevant degree of the same level, as per paragraph 24, section 1 of Ministerial Order no. 153, 26/02/2020, regarding admission and enrolment. The admission requirements for each programme are stated in the curriculum for that programme.

This assessment has been made by academic evaluators from the programme based on the documentation you have submitted through the online application portal.

If you find that our decision does not comply with Danish legislation, you may submit a written appeal to the University. An appeal on grounds of legal matters must be made in writing, and you must state exactly on which grounds you believe that the decision is not in compliance with the applicable legislation. An appeal must be received within 14 days of having received this email.

Please note: You cannot appeal against the assessment of your academic qualifications by our academic evaluators, only against strictly legal matters. Contact details for each faculty can be found here: <http://studies.ku.dk/masters/admission-and-application/online-application/facultyinfo/>

The appeal regulations can be found in paragraph 45 of Ministerial Order no. 153.

Best regards,

Johanne Luplau Schnefeld
University of Copenhagen
